SOUTHERN NEVADA CATTLE THRIVING

GRAZERS' GAIN WILL OVERBALANCE SMALL LOSSES THIS SEASON

The growing importance of cattle raising in the southern and western part of the state and particularly in the Goldfield district is evidenced in the increasing number of range cattle that are being grazed on the ranges of this county and the adjoining district of Nye county. Several shipments of cattle in large numbers have been made by the Humphrey-Reed Cattle company within the past few months. The Kawich district, east of Goldfield, is the principal range for the grazers of this district, although the Lida section is also coming into prominence, and several grazers have located herds in that part of the county, says the Tribune.

Jake Humphrey, of the Humphrey-Reed company, in a recent interview stated that the situation for cattle men of the so-called desert stretches of the county was more promising this year than for several seasons past. The chief reason for the increased possibilities in grazing and fattening cattle on the desert this year, according to Mr. Humphrey, is the large amount of precipitation that has fallen during the winter and the fact that the moisture did not run off immediately. The snow melted gradually and gave the ground an opportunity to absorb the water where it fell.

The spring grasses are already beginning to grow in the outlying sections and in the Kawich district the green grass has already attained a considerable height. The snow is staying in the valleys and depressions throughout the county and gives promise of plenty of water far into the spring and early summer. The grass in the Pine creek district, where the Humphrey-Reed company has a large herd of cattle, is over three inches high and gives promise of making a large crop this season.

Commenting on the loss due to the heavy storms throughout the state and particularly in this section, Mr. Humphrey stated that the losses will be more than offset by the resultant gain in the amount of range feed available this season. The cattle of this section have not suffered loss in weight nor have there been many reports of serious losses from the heavy snows. Several reports from the Reese river section which stated that grazers have not suffered considerable losses have not been confirmed and it is thought there is no foundation to them. Cattle in the northern part of the state have shrunk considerably in weight yet, with but few exceptions, there has been no serious loss to the ranchers.

LAS VEGAS BASKET BALL TEAM ARRIVES

LAST GAME OF SEASON FOR TONOPAH ON THE HOME FLOOR

The girls' basketball team from the Las Vegas high school arrived in Tonopah last evening for their game with the local girls tonight. Mr. Bernard Street, has the party in charge. The game this evening is the last of the basketball season for either the girls or the boys. The girls leave in a very short time for a trip through the northern part of the state. Should they succeed in vanquishing Las Vegas this evening, they will qualify for the semi-finals for the state championship. The success Mr. Street's machine has attained thus far makes it a foremost contender in the race.

This evening's game is in the gymnasium and will start promptly at 8 o'clock. A dance will follow the game. Admission 50c, and the price includes the dance.

The members of the Las Vegas team are Bernard Street, Mrs. G. H. Brockman, Pearl Laravey, Arretta Traach, Zona Pollock, Verna Pollock, Mamie Bundy, Ira Bundy, Verda Potter and Helen Boyd.

THOUGHTFUL LECTURE TO THOUGHTFUL MEN

FORMER MAYOR SEIDEL OF MILWAUKEE HOLDS AUDIENCE IN CLOSE ATTENTION

"At a large meeting held under the auspices of the Socialist local in the Airdome, Emil Seidel from Milwaukee, in strong terms condemned the "preparedness" program and held out to his audience a vision of a future to our country which, he said, would place us second to none. He asked: "How, after you have that army of 500,000 which Garrison demands, are you going to be able to throw such a body of men with all that goes with it, from the Atlantic across the continent to the Pacific with nothing but an antiquated railroad system under control of an inefficient management?"

"What we should have and what we need for our national family, is a line across the continent built as straight as the crow flies, cutting down hills, filling in valleys, bridging streams—a roadbed planned wide enough to allow for 15 to 25 tracks. This is the economic and industrial backbone of our nation. From this backbone you should build like ribs, lines running north, south and diagonal. Such a railroad may cost as high as one to two million dollars a mile. It may take you a century to complete the system for the country."

He said: "What we must do is to plan in centuries and think in centuries. Build as a family not for today, but for many centuries to come. The loss, due to unemployment, if eliminated would give us all the money that we need to build such a system." Another thing he asked for is that the water which now floods the lowlands and destroys millions in property should be turned into electricity to turn every wheel in the land.

The audience remained with Mr. Seidel until long after 10 o'clock.

BUZZARD NEWSPAPERS GETTING UNDER WAY

With a national and state political campaign but a few months away, it is hinted that several new newspapers are to be established in different parts of the state, and the announcement coming at this time gives but one conclusion, and that is the support of certain candidates, who believe that they will need favorable publicity to further their desires.

The late Nevada Democrat is a fair example of the certain end of political sheets, backed and controlled by out and out politicians. This class of publishers carries absolutely no weight with the rank and file of the party it is supposed to represent. Subsidized as they are, the reading public soon become acquainted with the real motives of their existence, and the end soon follows. However, while they live, they often work a great hardship to other legitimate newspapers in the immediate vicinity through unfair competition and price cutting. This they are able to do for the time being on account of the support of the candidates who become their temporary backers. For instance: If about half the ranchers in this valley were owned by what are known as "gentlemen farmers" who farm for pastime and dispose of their crops without profit, the legitimate farmers, who would be working for a living for their families, would necessarily be unable to cope with the situation and ruin would soon follow. Such is the competition that legitimate newspapers must combat when confronted by a political "fixup."—Record Courier.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS

This evening at 8 o'clock services will be held by the Women's Relief corps, assisted by the G. A. R. and Spanish War veterans at the family residence, over the remains of the late Mrs. Catherine Schoen. Tomorrow morning at 8:30 services will be held in St. Patrick's Catholic church, after which the body will be conveyed to the train and taken to Leadville, Colorado, where it will be interred by the side of her husband. Her daughters, Mrs. James Blair and Miss Catherine Schoen, will accompany the body to Leadville.

WE CANNOT DOPE OUT A HEADLINE FOR THIS

From the Battle Mountain Scout: We have the raw materials in abundance for the making of a great commonwealth, but they have been allowed to lay fallow and desolate while, in mounting numbers, reclamation and colonization projects in our neighboring states to the east and west, and north and south, have been conceived, launched and carried to a successful finish with results that added population, prestige and increased riches to those progressive realms. We have too long been content to pursue the policy of "laissez faire," we have wilfully secluded the light of our vast resources under the bushel basket of indifference and buried our talent of gold in a Fabian no-man's-land. By failing to provide passage for the Car of Progress, it has but followed the lines of least resistance and deflected from our border into the territory of our more enterprising neighbors. That it is now turning toward Nevada is not exactly due to local encouragement, but rather to diminishing opportunities in our sister states.

ANTIMONY IS USED IN AUTO CASINGS

BIG TIRE FACTORY USES QUANTITIES OF MINERAL FOR PRESERVATION

Antimony, as a preservative factor in the manufacture of automobile tires and other rubber articles, is coming into general use, according to A. C. Ochs, traveling agent for a rubber company of Chicopee Falls, Mass., who is in Goldfield. As a result of experiments conducted during the past year by the company, it has been found that antimony not only takes the place of sulphur, in causing rubber to retain its life and resiliency, but that antimony is impervious to the influence of alkali, which quickly destroys the preservative qualities of sulphur, says the Tribune.

In the manufacture of its casing, one company is now using antimony, and while the latter is considerably more costly than sulphur, its resistance to alkali and other deleterious substances makes it preferable by prolonging the life and toughening the surface of tire casings. The increased demand for antimony, created by the expensive use of the minerals in the automobile industry, is of interest to mining men of Nevada, as this state produces a considerable quantity of antimony and possesses large undeveloped deposits of the mineral.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The program tonight at the Butler will consist of a Wm. Fox production in which Theda Bara appears in the leading role. It is a drama of present day life, entitled "Destruction," and deals with a woman whose love of luxury, gratified, plunges thousands of workmen's families into direst poverty and suffering. "Destruction" is an educational photoplay; educational from the artisan's viewpoint as well as from that of the student of economics. Were it not for the dramatic story woven throughout its many scenes, it might pass for one of the greatest industrial films, for much of its action takes place in one of the largest steel mills in the country. The blending of the industrial and the narrative sides of the picture, however, is exceptionally well done and neither suffers thereby. The preliminary reel will be a George Ade comedy.

Tomorrow, Charles Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite," a two-reel comedy; and "The Caveman," a Blue Ribbon feature in five reels.

ALMOST A WATERHAUL

The police drag net was out all night, but all it contained when it was hauled in this morning was a drunken Indian. He will be discharged as soon as he is sufficiently sober.
